In a double role in a remarkable portrayal of an honorable and disreputable twin in

"A DEADLY HATE"

Three Reel Edison Feature

No one but a player as finished an artist as Marc McDermott is, could play this sterling English melodrama with such convincing power—making real the illusion of a disreputable, murderous paralytic and an honorable twin brother. Marc McDermott imparts to the two characters those lightning-like touches of characterization that give us a play that holds.

COUNTY FARMER KILLS INTRUDER

Oliver Sharrah Shoots and Fatally Injures Peter Deardorff, who had Refused to Leave his Home. Sharrah now in Jail.

Charged with the murder of Peter Deardorff Jr., of Franklin township, Oliver Sharrah, living near Willow Grove, two miles west of Cashtown, is in the Adams County jail. Sharrah admits his guilt, giving as his reason for killing Deardorff the latter's alleged intimacy with Mrs. Sharrah. Only last week she had laid information charging Deardorff with a serious crime and at the time of the murder, County Detective Wilson held a warrant for Deardorff's arrest. It was to have been served to-day.

Deardorff's death came as the result of a gunshot wound in the abdomen. For six hours after he was shot he lay in a dying condition by the side of the road near the Sharrah home, attended only by Mrs. Sharrah and some neighbors for the greater part of the time, until Dr. Albert Woerner arrived from Cashtown.

The story of the trouble between the two men dates back several months. The Sharrah home was on the road between Deardorff's home and Cashtown. Deardorff is said to have stopped often at the Sharrah house and had been warned frequently by the husband to stay away or he would kill him. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Sharrah were in Gettysburg at the Farmers' Day celebration and he was drinking. Deardorff was in Cashtown during the evening and he, too, was drinking.

They all went to the Sharrah home where the drinking continued, Deardorff arriving there shortly after the others got back from Gettysburg. About midnight the husband and wife went up-stairs to retire, believing that Deardorff would leave the house. Later Sharrah heard Deardorff downstairs and, going down, ordered him several times to leave and finally told him he would kill him if he did not go at once. Mrs. Sharrah hurried downstairs when she heard the noise of the altercation and saw her husband take down from a shelf a twelve gauge single barreled shot gun. After again ordering Deardorff to leave Sharrah fired, the charge entering the abdomen.

Sharrah, after firing the fatal shot returned to his bed and went to sleep. Deardorff staggered out of the house, returned, and then dragged himself to the roadside where he dropped to the ground. Mrs. Sharrah hurried to the home of David Shepard, who lives not far away, and he returned with her. Later he went to the residence of George Kane, about a mile away, and telephoned for Dr. Woerner. Other neighbors arrived on the scene but left upon the arrival of the physician about four o'clock in the morning.

Sharrah died two hours later, without losing consciousness. He suffered greatly but answered whatever questions the physician asked him and his last words before dying were "Sharrah shot me, he said he would do it. But I didn't think he would. I am going to die and I am not afraid." He wanted to see his brother, Charles J. Deardorff, and he was summoned but did not arrive in time. After Deardorff's death Dr. Woerner went into the house and aroused Sharrah telling him of the fatal effect of the shot. He did not seem in the least concerned.

Dr. Woerner then summoned Sheriff Thompson and District Attorney Wible who hastened to the scene where an inquest was held which resulted in the following verdict: "That Peter I. Deardorff came to his death as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted at the hands of Oliver Sharrah." The jury was composed of Charles B. Carbaugh, William D. Brown, J. C. Degroft, David Shepard, Samuel Shultz, and James Shultz. Sheriff Thompson brought Sharrah along back to jail.

He admitted his guilt and said that he would come to jail without making any trouble.

The inquest was held on the road, the dead body lying there after Deardorff's death until nine o'clock in the morning when it was removed to his home several miles distant.

Peter Deardorff, the dead man, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Deardorff, near Green Ridge, this county, and had been living with them for the past nine months. He was unmarried.

Batteries: Alexander and Burns; Leonard and Carrigan.

He was a construction foreman on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and, at the time of his death, carried an order which he received Saturday evening, to report at once. He was thirty six years old and beside his parents, leaves these brothers and sisters, Charles J. Deardorff, Mrs. Jacob McDannell, and Mrs. Curtis Herring, near Orrtanna; Mrs. Jacob Sharrah, Kane's Store; Mrs. William Shindle-decker, near Poplar Springs school-house. Jacob Sharrah, to whom one of the murdered man's sisters is married, is a brother of the man who did the shooting.

Sharrah is a son of the late John Sharrah and is aged 35 years. He has been in the employ of the State Highway Department as a laborer for some time past. He has two children.

Mr. Sharrah has retained William Hersh Esq. as his counsel and now refuses to discuss his case. District Attorney Wible has not yet preferred a formal charge against the defendant. It is likely that this will be done on Tuesday when a hearing will probably be given.

Deardorff's funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock from the home of his parents. Further services will be held at Mount Carmel church at ten o'clock and interment will be made at Flohr's Church.

CHILDREN HAVE SKULLS BROKEN

Two Little Tots of Mr. and Mrs. Shellenberger Kicked by Horse. Now in Serious Condition. On Way to Church.

Ray and Mary Shellenberger, aged four years and four months, respectively, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shellenberger, residing below East Berlin, sustained fractured skulls Sunday morning about 9 o'clock, when they were kicked by a horse which frightened at an automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Shellenberger and the two children were on their way to church when the accident occurred, and upon nearing the church an automobile passed.

The horse became vicious and kicked back into the buggy, striking both children, who were sitting on small chairs in the front of the buggy.

Dr. H. Bruce Hetrick was summoned and rendered surgical assistance. Both children are in a serious condition.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Quartet of Cupid's Couples Get Necessary Wedding Permits.

Four prospective brides and bridegrooms appeared before Clerk of the Courts Olinger on Farmers' Day to secure marriage licenses. To the first couple Mr. Olinger remitted the fee as his contribution to the spirit of the occasion. The following were granted licenses in the order named.

George Millhimes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Millhimes, and Alma McIntire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McIntire, both of Straban township.

Wirt Emlet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Emlet, of Tyrone township; and Dessie V. Bowers, daughter of Mrs. Ella Bowers, of Hamilton township.

Charles W. Butt, of Cumberland township, and Mary M. Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Snyder, Cumberland township.

Guy Kauffman, son of Mrs. Emma Kauffman, Hamilton township; and Nancy M. Harman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Harman, of Straban township.

FELL FROM WHEEL

George Diffenderfer was Unconscious for Several Hours.

George Diffenderfer, young son of Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Diffenderfer, of Carlisle, met with a very serious accident Friday evening as a result of which he lay unconscious for several hours. He was riding his bicycle and crossed in front of an approaching trolley car. After the car had passed he must have been seized with an attack of acute indigestion for he suddenly fell with his bicycle on top of him. He was tenderly taken to his home. His physician states that no bones were broken and his complete recovery is expected.

WHITMAN HERE FOR DEDICATION

New York's Chief Executive Arrives for Unveiling of Webb Statue at the Angle. Other Members of Official Party here also.

Governor Charles S. Whitman, of New York, and his staff, the members of the New York State Monuments Commission and invited guests arrived in Gettysburg shortly before four o'clock this afternoon in a special train of five coaches to attend the dedication of the memorial to General Alexander S. Webb at the Angle Tuesday afternoon. The party are quartered at the Eagle Hotel.

The procession preceding the dedication will leave the hotel at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon escorted by the Citizens' Band and Battery E. Governor Whitman and his official party and the veterans will ride in carriages and the route will be on Chambersburg street and Baltimore street to Steinwehr avenue, to the Taneytown Road, to Hancock avenue, and then to the monument.

Wednesday will be spent in an automobile trip to Antietam, returning to Gettysburg in the evening, and Thursday afternoon the special train will leave on its return. In addition to the official party many veterans are arriving on other trains.

In the selection of the exact site for the Webb monument there has been more or less soldier discussion. General Webb was known as a fight "mixer." Where the fray was thickest he was apt to be found, regardless of where his rank might require him to be. Those who fought with him—and many are still alive to tell of him—say that he was such a hard fighter himself that he gave small heed to the location so long as he was where the battling was brisk.

For this reason many of his comrades assert that his monument should be placed at the very point where General Armistead sprang over the wall, hat on sword point. That was the spot, they insist, where General Webb was to be seen, shouting encouragement to his men. They say to put him back 200 feet is to deprive him of the full honor and glory that a more advanced "marker" would give him.

MANY BEQUESTS

Carlisle Woman Remembers Hospital Library and Church.

Carlisle charities benefit by bequests contained in the will of Mrs. Amelia Givin Beall. There is an allotment of $30,000 to the Carlisle Hospital, the interest of this sum to be used as a maintenance fund. The Amelia S. Givin Public Library, at Mount Holly Springs, founded by Mrs. Beall, receives $20,000 and the Second Presbyterian Church Carlisle $10,000.

Bequests aggregating about $4,000 are made to servants. With the exception of $40,000 reverting to relatives of her husband, the bulk of the estate estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000 goes to distant relatives residing in Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland and Michigan.

WON MEDAL

Temperance Recitations at Sunday Evening Service at Flohr's.

Miss Maybelle Hereter won the silver medal offered in the contest held by St. Courageous Union at Flohr's church, near Cashtown, Sunday evening. The six other contestants were given souvenirs. The judges were Mrs. Remmel, Mrs. Walter H. O'Neal and Miss Rachel Scott. Several short addresses were made during the evening.

Miss Blanche Miekley, of Cashtown, deserves credit for selecting the speakers and preparing the program.

MISFORTUNES FOLLOW HIM

One Accident Scarcely over before Another Overtakes this Unfortunate Man. Bears Scars of Many Mishaps.

Harvey O. Harbaugh, of Highfield, has been pursued by a jinx in the past year and more.

Tuesday of last week while chopping wood at his home, the axe caught in the ubiquitous clothes line, with the result that the tool gave a twist and instead of descending on the piece of firewood fell bit end foremost, and landed on Mr. Harbaugh's forehead, inflicting a gash two inches long, requiring surgical attention and five stitches to close.

A year ago last March he got caught in a saw mill at the Summit and was whirled around like a pinwheel. His head was lashed against a table in the swift revolutions and his clothing was torn into shreds. Apart from some severe bruises and minor cuts, he was not seriously injured.

He was soon in his normal condition, back at work and ready for the next visit of the jinx. This occurred in June of the present year. On this occasion while picking grapes for C. A. Warner, Blue Ridge Summit, he lost his footing and fell quite a distance to the ground, striking his face on a rock, and cutting a deep gash, severing a blood vessel between the eye and nose, from which he lost a great quantity of blood. In the same fall his ear was badly cut. Both lacerations required a number of stitches.

THE HORSE SHOW

Ribbons Awarded for Best Entries in Saturday Feature.

In the horse show following Saturday's Farmers' Day parade these awards were made: J. B. Twining, first and second prizes for the best Belgian brood mares; first and second, for three year olds; first, colt under 1 year old; first and second, for two year olds. C. P. Musselman won first and second prizes for double pony teams, and first prize for single pony teams. George Bender was awarded the blue ribbon for having the best single driving team in the parade.

Luther Slentz took three prizes with thoroughbreds. Irene Slentz won the silver cup offered for the best thoroughbred driving mare; Beauty Hale won the blue ribbon offered for best standard bred yearling mare; and Senator Wise won the blue ribbon for the best standard bred stud colt.

HAGERSTOWN NEXT

Exhibits Arrive from Many Sections for the Fair.

Exhibits are arriving in Hagerstown from all over the East for the sixtieth annual exhibition of the great Hagerstown Interstate Fair, which opens on Tuesday.

Heads of the various departments state that nearly 7,000 birds will be in the poultry show, making it the second largest in America, only Syracuse outclassing it. There are now on the grounds more than 600 head of sheep; about 300 head of prize-winning hogs and in addition about 600 head of cattle.

The racing department, which offers $6,850 in purses this year, is exceptionally well filled, and some of the best horses of years are there. Between $12,000 and $15,000 is offered in premiums in the other departments of the exhibition. This year, for the first time, the fair is giving a corn display on a big scale.

Crowd Considerably Larger at Cyclorama than was Expected.

One of the features of Farmers' Day most enjoyed by the visitors was the battle picture. No less than 1250 availed themselves of the free tickets kindly distributed by the company controlling the cyclorama and all who saw it were delighted.

TEUTONS NOW IN BELGRADE

Serbian Forces Beaten Back in Hard Fight.

THE CITY LITTLE DAMAGED

Berlin Says Troops Are Still Advancing—Greek Cabinet Has Not Yet Agreed Upon Policy.

London, Oct. 11.—Belgrade is now completely in the hands of the Teutonic invaders, as well as the outlying heights to the southeast and southwest of the city, according to the official statement issued by the Berlin war office. Further east the Serbians were beaten back after hard fighting.

The Serbians are offering determined resistance to the Austro-German forces but with little success beyond inflicting heavy losses on the invaders. When the Germans entered the city Serbian fear guards contested the passage through the streets of the Teutonic forces.

The city was not damaged greatly by bombardment, being spared as far as possible, although some private buildings were destroyed. Part of the civilian population remains in Belgrade.

The war office announcement respecting these operations follows: "Belgrade and the surrounding heights to the southwest and south east are in our hands. The Serbians also were thrown back further east wherever they resisted. Our troops are advancing."

An official communication from Nish, issued in Paris at the Serbian legation, confirms the Austro-German attack on the lower Drina, on the northwestern frontier, is said, however, to have been repulsed with enormous losses for the Teutons. The statement follows:

"Belgrade has fallen into the hands of the Germans after a desperate resistance."

"Fighting continues all along the Danube and Save fronts. The purpose of the enemy is to advance through the Norava Valley, separating Kostolac (38 miles southeast of Belgrade) from Dubravatz (on the Danube, 35 miles east of Belgrade) where his chief efforts are concentrated."

"The enemy suffered enormous losses in making unsuccessful attacks on the lower Drina. The enemy has been thrown back on an island occupied before opening operations."

The attitude of Greece is still a matter of speculation. The representatives of the entente powers in Athens, while exercising no pressure on the Greek government, are urging it to reply to the question put last Thursday in regard to its future course respecting the Serbo-Greco alliance. The cabinet deliberated this question at great length Saturday and Sunday, but has not succeeded in reaching any agreement.

A neutral diplomat in Athens reported to his government his opinion that within less than a month former Premier Venizelos will be returned to power or else the ports of Greece will be blockaded by the entente powers.

JUSTICE LAMAR STRICKEN

Supreme Court Jurist Suffered Slight Paralytic Stroke.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Joseph R. Lamar, associate justice of the United States supreme court, has had a slight paralytic stroke.

The justice was stricken recently at White Sulphur Springs, where he had been summering, but has been brought quietly to his Washington home. The stroke, which was due to high blood pressure, affected only his left arm.

Since having been brought to Washington he has seen some of his associates in the highest court and is permitted now to talk with at least one person outside the family circle each day. His associates on the bench understand that it will be necessary for him to rest from his labors for a considerable time.

Gaffney Will Oppose the President

London, Oct. 11.—A despatch to the Daily Express from Amsterdam, says: "T. St. John Gaffney, American consul at Munich, now announces he intends to stay in Munich until spring. He will then return to the United States and threatens to oppose the reelection of President Wilson by 'putting his case before the American people.'"

Boy Slays Brother and Himself

Rocky Mount, Va., Oct. 11.—Willie Buckner, seventeen years old, son of a Franklin county farmer, shot and killed his brother, Hodie, fourteen years, by blowing his head off with a shot gun and then using a toe to pull the trigger, shot and killed himself. Companions said the youths had quarreled.

BRITISH CAPTURE ANOTHER TRENCH

French Also Push Their Advantage in Champagne.

London, Oct. 11.—Still another German attack on the positions captured by the allies in front of Loos is reported by the French war office.

Like its predecessors, it broke down against a withering artillery and infantry fire. Heavy losses were inflicted on the Teutons before they could get back into their trenches. In the Lorraine the French retook a trench captured by the enemy in Friday's fighting. They repulsed an aggressive attack in Champagne.

The British war office has made public a despatch from Field Marshal French telling of an additional advance of from five hundred to one thousand yards by his troops between Loos and Hulluch and of the capture of a five hundred yard trench near Cite St. Elle.

The French are keeping up a vigorous offensive in the Champagne, according to the Paris official statements. They have captured a German trench to the southeast of Tahure, while northeast of that hill, recently captured, further progress has been made.

There has been heavy artillery fighting on the hill near Souchez, while German attacks in the Givenchy woods were repulsed. Engagements at close quarters occurred in the Libons sector and in Lorraine.

SHIPS COLLIDE

Passengers Were Panic-Stricken, But All Were Removed Safely.

New York, Oct. 11.—One man was seriously injured and 250 passengers panic-stricken when the Bay State liner Tennessee collided with the schooner Samuel S. Thorp off Fisher's Island. Wireless calls brought the Concord of the Colonial line to the rescue, and the passengers who were frightened were transferred to the vessel.

Nearly 250 passengers, including Robert Keating, of Woodhaven, Conn., seriously injured, were brought here aboard the Concord.

The Tennessee with a ragged gap forty feet long in her side limped into port a few hours later. Keating suffered serious internal injuries and was removed to a hospital. Several other passengers received minor hurts.

Passengers told of panicky conditions aboard the Tennessee after the Thorp jammed her prow into their boat slightly forward amidships, but said that Captain George B. Enos calmed the women and children. He then sent out wireless calls to which the Concord was first to respond.

The sea was calm and the passengers were taken off without accident. A hole was torn in the side of the schooner.

Two British Ships Sunk

London, Oct. 11.—The British steamships Silver Ash, of 3753 tons, and the Seaway, 3658 tons, have been sunk by German submarines, the admiralty announced. There was no reference in the announcement as to the fate of the crews.

KILLS TWO SONS AND HIMSELF

Scranton Man First Beat Father-in-Law Unconscious.

WIFE FOUND THE BODIES

She Heard Reports of Shots Upstairs and Burst Open the Door of Death Room.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 11.—Leading his two children, Robert, three years old, and Rawson, four years old, into a bedroom at his home, 803 Raine street, Robert Orr, thirty-seven years old, shot and killed both and then killed himself. While he was firing the fourth shot his wife sought to break into the room.

"Keep out," shouted the husband and he fired twice more. When the woman entered the room the three bodies were lying in a heap on the floor. Each had been shot twice, in each case, one bullet entered the head just over the left eye and another pierced the heart.

Orr came home and quarreled with his father-in-law, Henry Rawson. He grabbed a convenient club and struck Rawson over the head, beating him to unconsciousness. Then he threw him into the yard. Next, the man took his two children to the room on the second floor, explaining to them that he had something for them. A couple of minutes later his wife heard the reports of pistol shots, and rushed to the room, which was locked. It wasn't until after the triple tragedy had been enacted that she was able to batter her way into the room of death.

The belief is that Orr had worked himself into a frenzy of rage during the quarrel with his father-in-law and became crazed.

GERMANS NEARER DVINSK

Capture Five Miles of Russian Position After Hard Fight.

London, Oct. 11.—The German effort to capture Dvinsk, on which Field Marshal von Hindenburg is now concentrating his efforts, has made further important progress.

The Berlin war office announced the capture of Russian positions over a front of nearly five miles north of the railroad running west from Dvinsk. A violent Russian attack west of the city, in an endeavor to regain the positions lost when the Germans last week made a gap of three miles in the Russian line, was repulsed.

The official statement in regard to operations on the eastern front follows:

"After a violent hand-to-hand fight Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army repulsed Russian forces which attempted to reconquer their lost positions near Garbounovka, west of Pinsk. North of the railroad from Dvinsk to Poniewesch, to the west of Pinsk, the Germans captured the enemy's positions over a front of about eight kilometers (nearly five miles). Six officers, 750 prisoners and five machine guns were captured."

"General von Linsingen's army took by storm the village of Sinszy, southwest of Pinsk. Cavalry engagements continue near Kuchekawola and in the neighborhood of Jezerczy. Several Russian attacks on the front between Rafalovki (fifty miles south of Pinsk) and the railroad running from Rovno to Kovel were repulsed, and 333 Russians were made prisoners."

"General von Bothmer's army repulsed strong Russian attacks north-west of Tarnopol."

SLIPS TO A DEATH DIVE

Spectator, Trying to See Parade, Victim of Fresh Paint.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 11.—While seeking a vantage point from which to view the big C. T. U. A. parade and as thousands of people looked on, Fred Blue, aged 19 years, plunged headlong from the third floor of the Leonard hardware building here, suffering injuries from which he cannot recover.

Blue crawled out on a window sill that had just been painted and lost his footing on the wet paint. In his descent he landed squarely on Lee Mooney, aged twenty-five, of Plymouth, who was thrown to the pavement and suffered a fractured skull. Mooney will recover, but Blue cannot live.

Black Damp Kills Two Miners

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 11.—Black damp overcame Martin Yurecell and Andrew Wargo, miners in No. 5 colliery of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, at Lansford. The mine adjoins that in which nine men were rescued. The men were found by men of the day shift on their way to work. Pulmotors were applied, but without success.

Less Than 15 German U-Boats Lost

London, Oct. 11.—A semi-official despatch received from Berlin referring to statements made in England and the United States that the losses of German submarines have reached an aggregate of 60, says categorically that the actual losses in underwater boats is less than a quarter of the above number.

Ruse That Is Forbidden.

Soldiers are forbidden by international law to pretend to be dead or wounded with the object of taking the enemy at a disadvantage.

MILE OF DIRT IN PANAMA CANAL

It May Take Ten Months to Remove It.

Panama, Oct. 11.—A careful survey of the slide area in the Gaillard cut of the canal reveals the fact that there probably are 10,000,000 cubic yards of earth in motion which must be taken out by dredging operations before a permanent channel through the cut is possible. Over 100 ships are held up.

This is the conclusion reached by the canal engineers, who concede there is now little hope of opening the waterway, even for the temporary use of shipping, much before the first of the year.

The present rate of wet excavation is a million yards a month, and at this rate it would require not less than ten months to remove the mass which is now sliding into the canal considerably faster than the dredges can take it out.

The area of motion is roughly calculated to be in the neighborhood of 175 acres, which constitute the greatest slide area in the history of the canal. It extends 2600 feet along both banks of the waterway, with probably an average of 1500 feet back of the center line of the canal prism.

SITE FOR BIG TIN PLANT

Schwab Will Also Have Car Works and Furnaces.

Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 11.—A big real estate deal announcement in business circles is the sale of forty acres of land by M. J. Shimer, of this place, to the Bethlehem Steel company for $150,000. The land purchased was, until a few months ago, occupied by the William Shimer Iron Toy foundry, which burned down at a loss of $100,000. The land adjoins the 67 acres the steel company recently purchased from Howard R. Knecht, and together they comprise the village of Shimersville.

On the site of more than 100 acres, the steel company's engineering forces have already prepared plans for a big tinplate mill, a large car works, presumably from the Bettendorf plant, Davenport, Iowa, and a battery of blast and open-hearth furnaces, to cost several millions.

Yeggs Make Good Haul

New Egypt, N. J., Oct. 11.—More than $6000 worth of stocks and bonds, some negotiable, were stolen by robbers who blew the safe at the business office of William Butts, Detective Parker, of Mount Holly, was called on the case and asked to get in touch with brokers to prevent a realization on the negotiable securities.

Can Hunt Wild Turkeys

Harrisburg, Oct. 11.—Wild turkeys will be legitimate game in Pennsylvania for the first time in two years on and after next Friday, October 15. They have had time to breed and are to be found in considerable numbers.

WHITMAN HERE FOR DEDICATION

charge of the selection and erection of the statue that is to be unveiled in General Webb's memory, tells the story of the choice of site and the arguments and reasons the commission has for placing the monument where it now stands. This is the way it came about:

"Shortly before General Webb's death he expressed his personal preference for the site where the monument now stands. He was not the sort of a man who sought to have himself perpetuated in bronze, but his wish was, if a monument were to be erected, that it be placed where he indicated.

"General Webb knew of the desire of some of his comrades and associates to place his monument nearer to the stone wall and the High Water Mark. He disagreed with them on this point, but some of his admirers went so far as to insist that it made no difference what the General wanted and said he was over-moored.

"Well, General Webb, it seemed to the members of the Gettysburg National Park Commission and the members of our New York Monuments Commission, was entitled to the fullest consideration as to his choice of site. And to supplement this opinion on our part the General gave the following first-rate reason as to why he should be shown where he is, rather than at the stone wall Bloody Angle. Here were his reasons:

"No doubt as brigade commander at this particular point I was back and forth over many parts of the ground. Very likely I was right up to this very stone fence. My duties called me to many spots in succession according as the fortunes of my brigade varied. But as a commander I do not think it reasonable to suppose I was stationed at the stone wall with my men at my back, firing behind me, undirected by me. It is not likely. It is more than probable that I was stationed about 200 feet away from the angle on the line of my brigade. If there is to be a monument telling of anything I took part in I should wish it where I have indicated, a short distance to the east of the angle."

"This argument seemed sufficiently convincing for the commission," says Colonel Stegman, "and so we selected the site for the monument marking the turning point of the Civil War. Just where the man who was the principal figure at that turning point desired it to be. It occupies a commanding position and will attract attention over longer distances and broader vistas than it would anywhere else in the vicinity."

The brigade commanded by General Webb at the Bloody Angle was composed entirely of Philadelphia regiments, the Sixty-ninth, Seventy-first, Seventy-second and One Hundred and Sixty.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Gettysburg Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak.

Backache and other kidney ills may follow.

Help the kidneys do their work.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the tested kidney remedy.

Gettysburg people endorse their worth.

W. N. Flaharty, retired farmer, 311 Washington St., Gettysburg, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been of great benefit to me and I willingly recommend them. I was injured some years ago and my kidneys were affected. I got various remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly cured me. Whenever I have taken them since, they have done good work."

BUSINESS BOOMS ALL OVER NATION

Federal Reserve Agents Report Improvement.

WHOLESALE TRADE IS GOOD

Cotton, selling at excellent prices, has a bright future, and the South is happy—Railroads Announce a Big Increase in Freight Traffic, and Optimism is Reigning Everywhere.

Improved business conditions in practically all sections of the United States are reflected in reports from federal reserve agents in the twelve districts made public by the federal reserve board.

The three southern districts where cotton is the big factor report that present prices and efforts of the federal board to finance the crop have had a beneficial effect on other lines.

Boston reports general improvement in all lines over last month, which is "very slight," but is in addition and apart from European orders, which is taken as an encouraging sign.

New York reports retail business poor in certain sections, but wholesalers say trade is expanding and the outlook is good for fall and winter business.

Philadelphia reports little change from a business point of view. General business conditions are quiet, with unusual activity in the manufacture of munitions. The steel business is good, coal mining is quiet, and oil is showing improvement.

The largest railroad in that district reports no idle good order cars. Of more than 500 representative firms in the district reporting conditions early in September 135 said conditions were normal, 240 not normal, 157 good, 81 fair and 80 poor.

Improvement is General.

Improved conditions, confined to special lines in the Cleveland district, have found their way into general trade. The steel business continues to boom, but little domestic business for 1916 is reported sold.

With cotton at present prices, Richmond reports, a large part of the district's crops will move from first hands, and the consequent liquidation will be generally helpful. Leaf tobacco prices are said to be holding well. Conditions are described as sound and with excellent promise.

Bright outlook in the cotton market in the Atlanta district, says the report, is an important factor. Railroads show considerable increase in freight traffic. The tobacco belt indicates a crop in good condition, with an average better than last year.

Chicago notes that any change there in general conditions is for the better and that there is apparent a feeling of more confidence in the future. Crops continue to look good.

Failures are Decreasing.

The wholesale trade of the St. Louis district shows increased activity, with a large jobbing business and commercial failures decreasing in number. The corn crop is expected to go above that of 1914 and the ten year average. A feeling of doubt is said to be turning to one of confidence among merchants.

Minneapolis says the district will contribute between 200,000,000 and 300,000,000 bushels of hard wheat to the 1915 crop, compared with about 160,000,000 bushels a year ago. The report says it is already clear that farmers are showing a disposition to hold in the expectation of better prices. General business is said to be prosperous and is moving at about normal.

From Kansas City it is reported that wheat farmers are inclined to hold for better prices. If there is no killing frost Kansas and Nebraska are expected to show one of the largest corn crops in their history.

General conditions in the Dallas district are said to show some improvement over August. The Texas cotton crop is estimated at not more than 3,250,000 bales.

San Francisco says conditions have not changed greatly, with the lumber business slow.

WOULD TRAIN SCHOOLBOYS.

Governor Walsh Urges a Plan of Military Education.

Compulsory military education for all youths over fourteen years of age, with exemption from poll taxes for those serving three years in the militia, was advocated by Governor Walsh of Massachusetts at a hearing before a newly organized state commission on military education and preparedness.

The governor suggested that camp duty be required for one week in a year, and that there be included in the courses of the Massachusetts public schools drill exercises as taught at West Point, military history, personal hygiene, sanitation in camp, home and city, flag signaling, telegraphy and first aid to the injured.

NATION STUDIES WORLD INDUSTRIAL INQUIRY.

Data Will Be Used in Efforts to Extend Country's Foreign Trade.

Instructions to American consular and commercial representatives in foreign countries calling for exhaustive reports on industrial organization and the relations between industry and government have been transmitted by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The reports will form the basis for a thorough investigation of industrial and business systems throughout the world undertaken by the federal trade commission, with which the bureau is co-operating. The trade commission also plans to conduct a supplementary worldwide inquiry through squads of special investigators.

Commercial attaches in foreign capitals, as well as the consular officers of the state department, have been instructed to cover in their reports business organizations, manufacturing and producing efficiency, merchandising methods, business and industrial laws, and particularly the relation between business organizations and governmental authority. Instructions were prepared separately for each of the various countries.

Special instructions have been issued calling for reports on the so called "cartel" system of business organization, as developed in Germany, under which great combinations of capital are fostered.

The reports also will be available for use by the bureau and the commission in their efforts to extend the foreign trade of the United States. The commission already has held numerous hearings in this country on this subject.

FAVOR AN INDIAN DAY.

Would Make Second Saturday in May Each Year a Legal Holiday.

Before an audience of more than 1,200 Indians, assembled at Lawrence, Kan., President Sherman Coolidge of the Society of American Indians read a proclamation announcing the creation of American Indian day. The second Saturday in May each year is proposed as a national holiday, and the society will use its influence with congress and with the president to have the new holiday given a legal recognition.

The society was in session a week and weighed several measures for clearing up the Indian problem. Its purpose is not only to bring about a more rapid advancement of the race so that it may become entirely free from federal oversight, but the society desires that all Indians may attain the position of self supporting citizenship and add to the national treasury its share of taxation. To care for 247,000 Indians on reservations now, it was stated, by taxation and gifts of charitable institutions and persons $20,000,000 is required annually, though Indian property is appraised at $1,000,000,000. The leaders of the society believe this patronizing charity ruinous to the race and assert that it does not encourage competency, but rather encourages pauperism and the consequent need of a guardian bureau in Washington.

NUN LEADS RUSSIAN CHARGE.

Falls, Mortally Wounded, as German Trench is Captured.

A Russian sister of charity, Mira Ivanova, was on the field of battle during a severe engagement on Sept. 22. Heedless of the entreaties of the officers near her, including her brother, who is a regimental surgeon, that she leave the field, she continued to care for the wounded amid a hail of rifle and machine gunfire.

The commander and all the other officers of the Tenth company of her regiment were killed in the action. Realizing that the position was a critical one she rallied the survivors of the company and, with them, charged the German line, drove it back and captured a German trench. At the moment of victory she fell, mortally wounded.

EXPERTS WATCH ST. PAUL'S.

Architects on Duty at Cathedral, Fearing Fire by Zeppelins.

An association of architects and art craftsmen now does duty in protecting St. Paul's cathedral, presumably in case of incendiary bombs being dropped upon it by Zeppelins.

These men serve in addition to the regular watchmen. Hard boxes and sheets for putting out fires are placed in convenient corners, just as they are in the museums and art galleries of London. So far the Zeppelins have destroyed nothing of importance in the way of art or architecture in England.

DEVICES TO MEET SUBMARINE PERIL

Washington Informed Many U Boats Have Been Sunk.

May Change Naval Plans.

Underwater Telephones Show Where Craft Are—Motorboats and Aeroplanes Catch Them—Detectors to Show Approach of Any Warship Tried.

Great Britain has discovered and put into effective operation means of combating the submarine which, according to official reports to the United States government, already have resulted in a loss estimated at between fifty and seventy German submarines. The reports declare that the British admiralty confidently believes it has crushed the German undersea campaign.

New methods of offense and defense that may revolutionize naval warfare have been adopted, and high British naval officers are of the opinion that unless the effectiveness of the submarine is increased it will no longer constitute the menace that it has to commerce and battle fleets.

The British censorship has prevented the disclosure of details concerning the developments. Within the last three weeks, however, confidential reports to various government departments from representatives in European capitals have confirmed the British admiralty's view that effective means of dealing with the submarine have been found.

These reports are being closely scrutinized on account of the hearing they may have upon the naval policy of the United States. They reaffirm officers of the navy in their conviction that the dreadnought still is the mainstay in warfare on sea and tend to dissipate the profound impression created by the spectacular and for a long time apparently unsurpassed operations of the German U boats around the British Isles.

Detected by Sound.

While the greatest secrecy is thrown around the means employed, the United States government has information concerning the principal methods which have been successful in meeting the German war zone campaign. A submarine telephone has been developed to detect submarines from observation boats or stations planted offshore connected with points on the mainland.

For the capturing of craft whose presence has not been detected or even suspected the government's reports describe how huge nets have been stretched across the channels through which the submarines may be expected to attempt to pass, and in open waters, near steamship lanes or in the vicinity of warships, nets suspended between floats have been spread broadcast. Armed patrol boats watch, and when the floats disappear beneath the water, showing that a submarine has become entangled, the patrols congregate at the place, and when the victim comes to the surface, as it inevitably must to disentangle itself, it is destroyed by gunfire or captured.

A special type of mine also has been devised, which is laid in large fields that have proved particularly dangerous to submarines approaching steamship lanes.

German Doses Destroyed.

The German methods of supplying submarines with oil and provisions, either at sea or from concealed places along the coasts of the British Isles, have been ferreted out and practically disposed of. This compels the boats to return to their bases at more frequent intervals and leaves them only a comparatively short time in position and equipped for effective duty.

Destroyers, the reports declare, become expert in the game of submarine hunting, and armed travelers also have proved very effective on account of their speed and ability quickly to get within easy range of their victims. But the greatest single factor, it is said, has been a newly designed and built fleet of small seagoing motorboats, armed with one or two three-inch guns, and possessing very high speed. These boats literally swarm over suspected expanses of the waters and by an effectively worked out system of patrol cover almost every mile of the surface in channels of commerce adjacent to Great Britain. As a submarine must frequently rise to renew its air supply and recharge the storage batteries by which it is propelled when submerged, any in the territory covered by the scout is almost certain to be eventually detected and destroyed.

ALLIES BUY U. S. LEGS.

Pittsburgh Gets $15,000,000 Order to Patch Up Wounded.

Orders for artificial limbs amounting to $15,000,000 have been awarded to a Pittsburgh firm by the English and French governments.

The concern plans to produce and ship 250 legs and arms each month until the order is completed. The first shipment has been made. Discussing the order, an official said:

"Two hundred and fifty legs a month are all our factories can make now, running double time. We will be in shape in a few months to turn out from 1,200 to 1,500 a month. They will be finished and fitted in London and Paris."

A Quick Transition

By EUNICE BLAKE

"Howdy, Amanda? Excuse me for not comin' sooner when you sent to say you wanted to see me, but I was workin' at the elder press."

"Come in, Mr. Morehouse. It's gittin' chilly nights now. I got some legs blazin' on the hearth, and I'll bring up some birch beer from the cellar."

Josh Morehouse, a bachelor of forty, accepted the invitation and was soon sitting on one end of a sofa drawn before the fire, while Amanda Waters, aged twenty, sat at the other. Beside Josh stood a table on which were a dish of nuts and a bottle of birch beer. After a swig of the beer he began cracking the nuts and invited Amanda to tell him what he could do for her.

"Law sakes, Mr. Morehouse, I don't believe I can."

"Waal, now, that's surprisin'."

"There's somepin' I want you to do for me, but it's awful hard to say it. Fact is, I want to borrow you for awhile."

"Borry me?"

Mr. Morehouse paused while cracking a nut and looked at Miss Waters inquiringly.

"You know Enoch Rogers. Well, Enoch has been talkin' soft to me lately, and I don't want him to do it. He's a nice feller, but he's nothin' but a boy. I don't cotton to these kids, but Enoch is givin' me an awful lot of worriment. I don't want to hurt his feelin's, and I can't stand it to have him follerin' me about, makin' people believe I belong to him."

"Why don't you tell him, squar, to keep off?"

"I have. It don't appear to do any good."

"You don't want me to give him a lickin', do you?"

"Oh, no, Mr. Morehouse. I wouldn't have you do that."

"What do you want me to do?"

"Waal, I've reckoned that if you wouldn't mind make believe for awhile I belong to you mebbe he'd give me up and be ruckensided to get on with-out me."

"Oh, I see! That's a mighty good way of lettin' him down."

"His mother and my mother are mighty good friends, and Enoch is a nice boy. So I musn't do anything to make bad blood. Jest as soon as Enoch sees that some one has got ahead of him he'll draw off and find another gal."

"You don't mean that he'd think you'd look at an old feller like me, do you?"

"La sakes, Mr. Morehouse, how you talk! You're just the age for a woman between eighteen and twenty-five. Girls want a husband to look up to. They don't want a boy that they kin wipe the floor with."

"You don't mean it, Waal, now, I wouldn't 'a' thought any gal except an old maid would want me."

Mr. Morehouse looked very much pleased. The fire crackled merrily, dancing on the fender and gliding articles in the room. The birch beer had a delicious flavor, and the nuts, having been newly gathered, were the same.

"When shall we begin, Mr. Morehouse?" asked Amanda, moving from her end of the sofa toward her make believe lover.

"Begin? Begin what?"

"Why, pretendin' we're engaged."

"Isn't there a big difference between pretendin' and the real thing?"

"Mebbe there is, but if we don't act engaged afore people they won't believe we're engaged. Enoch'll think I'm just sayin' I'm engaged to shet him off."

"That wouldn't do, would it? But how are we goin' to act engaged?"

"Law sakes, Mr. Morehouse, you don't reckon we're goin' to know how to act engaged without any practicin'?"

"Mebbe not."

Mr. Morehouse took another pull at the birch beer, and when he had set down his mug he found that Amanda had moved to the middle of the sofa and there was barely room for a sheet of paper between them. The fire was crackling and giving out its genial warmth. Mr. Morehouse felt very happy. He looked slyly at Amanda, while she looked down at her lap, smoothing her dress. He wondered if a borrowed lover practicing to play his part was entitled to take a kiss. He dropped an arm, which was resting on the back of the sofa, to her waist. She did not move. He felt encouraged. He drew her toward him till she was leaning up against him. Her head toppled to the side; he turned her face, and his lips were drawn magnetically to hers.

"By jinx," he exclaimed, "I wonder if bel'n a real lover is better'n a borrowed one!"

"Nobody kin tell that without tryin'," said Amanda.

Another kiss helped him on, and still another helped him on further, till at last, as he afterward said, "the words just came right out by themselves without my havin' anything to do with it."

When Josh Morehouse went home that evening he was astonished at remembering that he had stood within an hour in three different positions—friend, pretended lover and betrothed. "It beats anything," he said to himself, snapping his knee. "How sudden some things come about. Just think that Manly's walthin' to borrow me to head off Enoch Rogers should 'a' made a match between her and me!"

Wise Saying.

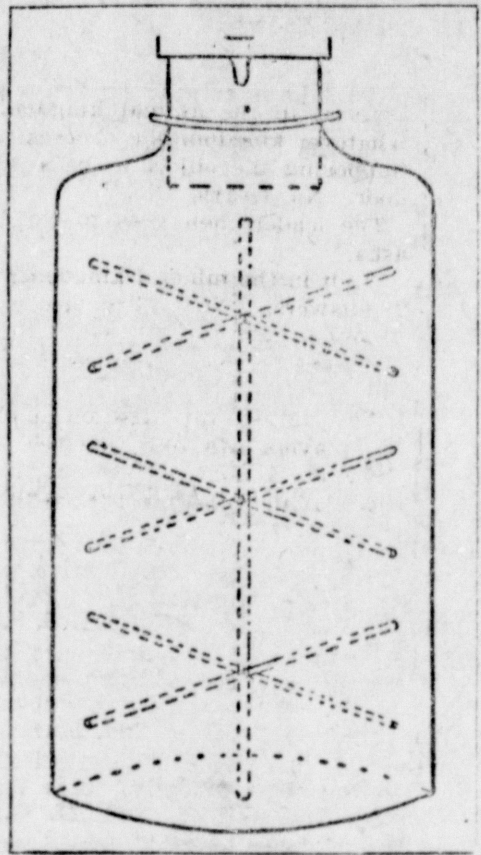

There is more truth than humor in a saying of Buddha that the best way to keep your word is not to give it.

SHIPPING BEES WITH SAFETY

May Be Used for Purpose by Army in France—Prevents Insects Smothering.

A bottle used for shipping bees can be made more suitable for the purpose by putting a light frame inside, as shown in the illustration, says Wisconsin Agriculturist.

The bees, when lightly smoked, can easily be shaken into the bottle.

Jar With Frame Inside for Shipping Bees.

through a paper funnel. The glass is too smooth for them to cling to the sides, and some of them will smother in the bottom if too many are put into the bottle, unless a frame is made for them to cluster around.

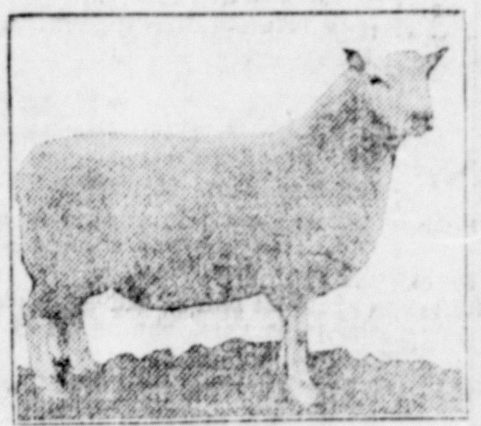

The arms are fastened to the middle piece and turned straight into place in the bottle or jar. Then the cross pieces can be turned into position.

Many physicians use the bee poison for certain purposes, and get bees to be used in this way. This hint will be of value to those who ship bees to them or to other apiarists.

SHEEP TRIM UP THE WEEDS

Also Clean Up Eriens, Volunteer Grass and Grass Growth in Fence Rows and About Stock Lot.

The greatest advantage in keeping a few sheep on the farm—twenty-five to fifty head—is the cleaning up of weeds, briars, volunteer grain and grass growth in the fence rows and about stock lots, feed lots, barn yard and idle places generally, where such growth gets a start in the latter part of summer and early fall season. Weeds in such places should never be permitted to go to seed, and need no if the sheep are given a chance to trim up these waste and idle places before the volunteer growths get too far advanced.

It is a good plan to bring the sheep from their pasture once or twice each week through the summer and fall and give them opportunity to trim up the weeds. It is very valuable for the health and thrift of the sheep.

"A change of pasture is good for sheep," and there is nothing better for the suppression of the extra growth of pasture and weeds than sheep.

POINTERS FOR PIG BREEDER

Feeding and Attention Are of Much Importance—Furnish Dry Quarters and Plenty of Sunlight.

Keep the following points in mind:

1. Feeding and care are as important as breeding in producing a good hog. Plenty of good feed and care may make a fairly good hog out of a runt, but lack of it will always make a runt out of a good pig.
2. Young pigs must have a dry bed and plenty of sunshine.
3. Begin feeding the pig as soon as he will eat, and keep him growing until he is mature.
4. Always keep plenty of clean, fresh water where the hogs may drink at any time.
5. The more milk a sow will give the faster her pigs will grow.
6. Litter prevent a hog from doing well.

"Tipping" Raspberry Canes.

The time for "tipping" black raspberry canes (if you want new plants to set or sell) is close at hand. When the new growth bends over near the ground, each tip should be buried a few inches in the soil and held in place with a stone, peg, or heap of dirt. Next spring nearly every tip will have taken root; the new plants can then be severed from the parent canes and moved wherever desired.

Palpably a Strain.

"Politeness costs more men such an effort," said Uncle Eben, "dat you can't tell wishin' dey'd settle back an' jes' act natural."

LOST TO WEST POINT

Army Takes Local Collegians into Camp without Difficulty.

Gettysburg was beaten by a decisive score at West Point Saturday when the Army rolled up 22 points against the orange and blue outfit. In the first half only three points were scored, but in the second half "breaks" enabled the Army men to roll up a big score. One touchdown was made after a kick was blocked following Gettysburg's holding for downs on the five yard line, another touchdown came as the result of a long run following an intercepted forward pass while the third one was earned through several cleverly executed forward passes. West Point could not gain through the Gettysburg line, and the locals were helpless on the offense, making only one first down.

The Gettysburg Reserves defeated Millersville Normal School in a well played game on Nixon Field Saturday afternoon by the score of 29 to 0.

The Hanover High School was scheduled to play the Gettysburg High School on Kurts Playground but failed to make their appearance.

SAGE TEA PUTS LIFE AND COLOR IN HAIR

Deny Gray. It Darkens Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea have been sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair, stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

CARRANZA TO SHOW MERCY

Promises Amnesty to All But a Few Opponents.

TO FREE RELIGIOUS WORKERS

The New Mexican Head Promises to Decree Land Reforms and Many Other Changes.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Following the official announcement that the representatives of the Latin-American governments as well as the United States have decided to recognize General Venustiano Carranza as head of the most powerful faction in Mexico, it was learned that the first chief has declared that he will pronounce amnesty to all political offenders with the exception of those who have been most prominent in the opposition to him.

General Carranza will also provide amnesty to religious workers whose activities are reported to have incurred his animosity. Workers in the religious field who have not been prominently identified in politics in Mexico will be permitted to return to that country and to enjoy perfect freedom unless they engage in politics.

Recognition of General Carranza by the United States government is a decided reversal from its previous stand as earlier the administration appeared to be opposed to General Carranza, rather favoring Villa. General Carranza has announced his intention of making reforms in the matter of land tenure, as well as other reforms for which he has been battling. This will be done through a decree issued by him as military dictator of Mexico.

The question of foreign claims and debts against Mexico was not considered at the Pan-American conference. It was explained, for the reason that any government recognized in Mexico is considered to assume the obligation of meeting the debts of former governments of Mexico and of paying all foreign claims established against it under the rules of international law.

No formal announcement was made of an intention to place an embargo against the shipment of arms into Mexico to the enemies of the Carranza government, but the act of recognition, it is explained, will bring such an embargo as a logical corollary.

Having recognized General Carranza, the Pan-American governments will do all within their power to establish his supreme control over Mexico in the briefest time possible. In fact, it was the idea that General Carranza's supremacy could be established quickly that led these governments to select his party for recognition as the de facto government.

WIPES OUT ENTIRE FAMILY

Probably Insane, Man Kills Wife, Daughter and Himself.

Baltimore, Oct. 11.—A whole family was wiped out when Frank Grimes, aged forty-two years, of Highland town, shot and instantly killed his wife and ten-year-old daughter, Gertrude, and then committed suicide. Sudden insanity is the only known reason for the tragedy. Grimes had been under a doctor's care for nervousness for some time.

He was visited by Rev. Frank M. Methodist church, who probably was the last person to see the family alive. As the clergyman was about to leave the house Grimes said to him: "Pastor, I feel as though I wanted to kill some one, and I am afraid of myself. I don't know what I am to do." The clergyman looked upon this statement as a grim joke, but took Grimes back into the house and talked to him for some time, with a view of quieting his nerves and turning his thoughts into normal channels. The man seemed a little better and more composed when he left.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Alberto Garcia Granados, minister of the interior in the Huerta cabinet, was executed in Mexico City, according to state department advice, convicted of complicity in the killing of President Madero.

Mother of 20 Seeks Divorce
Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 11.—Although she is the mother of twenty children, Mrs. Rossina Mongiello, of 613 Park avenue, has brought action for divorce because she believes her husband is interested in another woman. The pair have been married 30 years.

BOSTON FANS WILD OVER WORLD SERIES

About 50,000 Attend This Afternoon's Game.

Boston, Oct. 11.—With 50,000 fans in attendance the third game of the series between Boston Americans and the Philadelphia Nationals is being played here this afternoon.

The fans are wild with enthusiasm and are backing the Red Sox at 13 to 10 to win the championship. Their hopes were greatly encouraged with Saturday's victory in Philadelphia, and are now counting on three more straight victories.

It is believed Manager Moran will pitch Alexander this afternoon and Chalmers tomorrow. Manager Carrigan will probably pitch Leonard.

The players will fare better this year than on any other occasion since the world series began. With their share of the two Philadelphia games of $55,671 and with the two games to be played here added to that sum, the winning players should receive about $1500 each. This year only twenty-one players on each club will share, owing to the limit to that number by organized baseball.

BLACK HAND KILLS WOMAN

Wife of Man Who Withheld Black-mail Dynamite.

Indiana, Pa., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Frank Antonucci, wife of a well-to-do Italian merchant at Creekside, Pa., died in a hospital here as the result of injuries received when the Antonucci residence and store was blown to pieces by dynamite.

Antonucci recently received letters demanding money, under penalty of death, and Wednesday evening two strange men approached Mrs. Antonucci on the street and told her that if she wanted to live she must take her children and leave the house.

BIG COAL SALE TO BRITAIN

West Virginia Mines, Long Closed, Have Year's Contracts.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 11.—J. H. Powell, head of large coal producing corporation with mines at Powhatan and Eldridge, returned from England, and announced that he had closed contracts in Great Britain that would require the operation of all mines on Armstrong Creek for at least one year. The mines are to be placed in operation next week, following a shut-down of almost a year.

Makes Smallest Penknife.

Altoona, Pa.—What is perhaps the smallest penknife in the world has just been completed by M. A. Kaufman, employed in a jewelry store here. It measures 5/32 of an inch in length with a blade less than 2-16 of an inch long. The handle is solid gold while the blade and spring are of tempered steel. The knife is kept in a bottle to prevent losing it. The workmanship must be seen through a magnifying glass.

YOUNG FOLKS' CORNER

Twenty Guesses.

A good game is that called "twenty guesses." Any number of players can participate. It can be played anywhere.

One of the players is chosen for leader. She goes several yards away while the others take the name of some visible object. Then they call the leader back.

She goes to No. 1 and asks: "Is it in the animal kingdom?" or whatever kingdom she chooses to say. Supposing the object to be a wooden door. No. 1 says, "No."

The leader then goes to No. 2 and asks:

"Is it in the mineral kingdom?" No. 2 answers, "No." The leader then knows it is in the vegetable kingdom. She has eighteen more guesses to guess the object.

She can ask any question at all, but the players can only answer yes or no and cannot answer out of their turn. If the rules are broken the leader changes places with the one who broke them. When the leader says, "It is a wooden door," the player whose turn it was now becomes the leader, and so on.

Joining the Odd Fellows.

Joining the Odd Fellows is a very amusing game. First all the girls go in one room and all the boys in another. One boy is chosen as the master of ceremony and goes in the room with the girls. One boy is called from the boys' room and blindfolded.

He is asked, "Do you want to join the Odd Fellows?" He is supposed to say "Yes." Then he is asked, "Do you want one, two or three degrees?" and he answers according to what he wants. The next question is, "Which girl do you want to give you the degrees?" He then gives the name of the girl he wishes to initiate him.

The girl approaches, and the master of ceremony kisses the boy according to the number of degrees he has taken. Then another boy is called in, and the same thing is done. Each boy sees how he is fooled. As the other boy comes in the first boy stays in the girls' room, and so on until all the boys are in the girls' room, and only the last boy does not know he has been fooled.

Song of the Katydid.

Katydid belongs to the grasshopper family, and sometimes they have been known to make faint noises in the daytime, but they are never so loud as those made at night. The queer call which sounds so very much like the words "Katy did" is made by rubbing the overlapping wing covers against each other. This noise has been made with the wings of a dead katydid.

A katydid's eggs are flattened, oval and white colored and are placed in a double overlapping row on twigs and leaves. One katydid will lay as many as 150 eggs in a season. Katydid eggs hatch out the following spring. In the southern states there are two generations each year. In the northern states there is a single brood.

The Night Express.

A royal train is the night express. When the work of the day is done; When the lamps drive out the loneliness And the grate fire glows in its deep recess, And the winter night creeps on, "Now come!" I say to my four-year-old, "The hour for the game is here. You be the fireman, big and bold, And I'll be the engineer."

A train of chairs in a faultless row, With one high chair at the head, "Now, all aboard! Time's up, you know. Ting-a-ling! Toot! Toot!" and away we go, While the furnace fire is fed, "Steam up! Speed on! For the night is cold, And the track ahead is clear."

A thrilling ride for the fireman bold And a joy to the engineer. Through farm and forest we thunder on, And our light shines far ahead, But—"Look! On, derry, the bridge is gone!"

A wreck there'll be in the ghostly dawa And a train in the river's bed! He drops the tools that he sought to hold, And his eyes grow wide with fear; One leap, and he's safe, is the fireman's, In the arms of the engineer.

It's many a year since the night express Went thundering down to the bay, And a boy once in a soldier's dress Is he who sprang to my quick cares When the bridge was washed away; Yet I dream, as the winter nights grow cold, Of the nights of an older year, When my four-year-old was the fireman bold And I was the engineer.

—Youth's Companion.

Remarkable Chess Record.

James McConnell, Jr., of New Orleans, made a remarkable record in the championship tournament of the Louisiana State Chess association, which he won without losing or drawing a single game of the sixteen he was required to play. There were seventeen entries. Judge L. L. Labatt of New Orleans was the second prize winner, with a score of 13½ to 2½.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Ralph de Palma, Driver of Racing Motorcars.

Ralph de Palma, one of the most daring and at the same time one of the most careful drivers of racing motorcars, is a native of Italy. Coming to America when he was a young man, he worked for a time as a barber and then became a bicycle racer. He graduated to the motorcycle and a few years ago took up auto racing. He soon showed his skill in handling racing cars by holding all records for from one to twenty-five miles.

He has twice won the Vanderbilt cup race and last spring defeated Dario Resta in the 500 mile race at Indianapolis. When these two were entered in the race for the Astor cup, the event scheduled to open the new Sheepshead Bay speedway at New York, a hard fought contest was assured, as the rivalry between them is keen.

To Bar Trick Plays.

President Tener has announced that the most covered trick plays will be barred from the National league after this season. Tener intends putting through a set of rules during the winter that will prevent Miller Huggins and other tricksters from winning ball games by causing one of the opposition to pull a "dope."

One of the things that influenced the big chief of the National against trickery was Huggins' little stunt, played on Appleton, the Brooklyn pitcher. The Cards had two men on bases, Huggins was on the coaching line for his team, and Appleton was pitching.

Just as Appleton was about to wind up for a pitch Huggins yelled:

"Hey, throw that ball here; throw it here, I say!"

Appleton looked at Huggins, figured that Huggins thought he was using an imperfect ball or had been sandpapering it, and then threw it toward Huggins. The Cardinals leader dodged the throw, the ball went to the grandstand, and before it was recovered the Cardinals runners had scored, and the Cards won the game.

Clarke's Good Record.

Fred Clarke, who has resigned as manager of the Pittsburgh Nationals after nearly sixteen years as the pilot of that club, stands unique among the baseball managers of the time. His years of service for one club exceed those of any manager in major league baseball, and he has seen many men of note come and go as rival managers.

When Clarke went to Louisville club in 1901 he cost Barney Dreyfus only $300. He has been remarkable for his years of service as one of the great players of his time as well as a most efficient manager. In fifteen years as manager of the Pirates he has never had them finish in the second division, and his general average has been better than that. He has won four National league pennants and one world's championship.

For Fair Swimming.

The new swimming code just drafted by the aquatic committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association contains an admirably devised rule to avoid fouls in pool meets. It prescribes the division of the pool into two lanes by stretching a rope lengthwise through the middle and the starting of the representatives of opposing teams in separate lanes, a simple expedient, yet contrived to completely do away with the protests and discussions so often chronicled in the past.

Hereafter with the rival candidates on either side of the barrier, crooked swimming can only work against the offender or a teammate, as it should.

Medical Advertising Medical Journal

Advices Doctors to Prescribe Vinol and Give Reasons Why.

"Doctor: You have many patients under your care at this season of the year especially whom you may consider are in need of the nutritious, healing properties of cod liver oil. Many people cannot digest or assimilate the ordinary cod liver oil preparations on account of their digestive disturbances."

It is for this reason we want to respectfully call your attention to Vinol—a cod liver preparation containing Cod Liver Peptone made from fresh cod livers and cod liver oil (all oil eliminated), together with Iron Peptone, Beef Peptone, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, and pure Native Wine.

Vinol is non-secret and in our opinion, superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, because while it contains all the medicinal value they do, unlike them Vinol is deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach.

We feel that medical practitioners who once prescribe Vinol will do so continuously, as under its treatment patients gain strength and put on flesh almost from the start."

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE CANDY CORNER.

SUMMER FONDANT.—Break the white of an egg into a glass so you can see its exact amount; then add to it an equal amount of liquid. The liquid may be fruit juice or strong coffee, strained. Pour into a bowl, beat slightly and gradually, stir in at least a pound of confectioner's sugar until it is of right consistency to be molded into creams. This is a foundation cream that can be used with nuts and candied fruits to make many favorite sweets.

Crystallized Peanuts.—Shell the peanuts, brown them slowly and remove the skins. Place in porcelain tin or granite kettle two cups of granulated sugar, one cup of water and half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Bring this to a boil and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Then boil without stirring until a little dropped into cold water becomes hard and brittle; then remove immediately from the fire, dip the nuts singly into the mixture and lay them on paraffin paper to dry. Sections of fruit and other kind of nuts may be treated in the same way.

Coffee Fudge.—Two cups of light brown sugar, one cup of granulated sugar, three-quarters of a cup of strong boiled coffee, a piece of butter the size of a small egg and a pinch of salt if the butter isn't very salty. Boil until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Take it off the stove and stir in nut meats if liked. Now let it stand a few minutes, then stir until it begins to grain. Pour into a buttered pan, let cool, then mark in squares.

Chocolate Creams.—Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth, add gradually two cups of confectioner's sugar. If the eggs are very large it may take a little more sugar. Flavor with a half teaspoonful of cinnamon or vanilla and stir well. Roll into little balls, drop on a lightly buttered plate and set away in a cool place for an hour to harden. Shave five ounces of chocolate and melt it over the top of the plate or by setting the bowl containing it in hot water.

When melted drop the creams into the chocolate one at a time, using a candy dipper or fork for this purpose; then lay on buttered paper to harden.

Iron Ore Industry.

The five states producing the largest quantity of iron ore are Minnesota, Michigan, Alabama, Wisconsin and New York, the first three of which produced more than 1,000,000 tons each. The Minnesota ranges are still producing more iron ore than is produced in the rest of the states together, having furnished 52.96 per cent of the total for the United States in 1914 as compared with 62.37 per cent in 1913. The Lake Superior district, comprising all the mines in Minnesota and Michigan and those in northern Wisconsin, mined 33,549,463 long tons in 1914, or 80.94 per cent of the total production.—United States Geological Survey.

Sliding Friction of Tires.

Among the items of tread wear not commonly recognized is sliding friction. An expert with one of the tire companies explains this as the friction which occurs between the tire and the ground, due to surface motion of the tread. As the surface of a tire is doubly curved, to flatten any portion of it against the ground involves a certain amount of surface distortion, and when this distortion is transferred from one part of the tread to another a continuous sliding friction is produced. This materially affects fuel consumption.

A Rubber Destroyer.

A piece of cotton fiber or a piece of rubber which has been dipped in a 10 per cent solution of sulphuric acid will within a few hours be destroyed. An automobile tube or an automobile casing which has been through a floor of a garage and come in contact with the sulphuric acid solution used in electric vehicle batteries spilled on the floor has had many miles of running eaten out of it. An inner tube which has met with such an accident and then put in a tire and blown up will blow out in a very short time.

ODD SLEEVES FOR NEW WAISTS.

This waist is practical as well as smart, for, although illustrated with fancy sleeves and embroidered trimming, it may be made up with a simple front, shoulder straps and pockets.

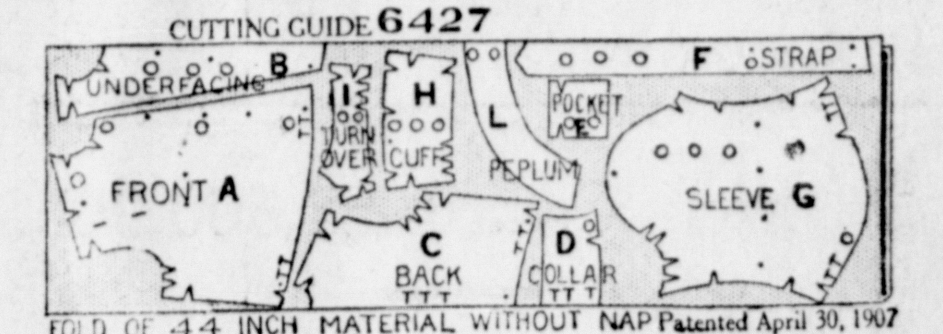

If the new separate waists are interesting, the sleeves which they exploit are equally so. The very long, semi-fitting sleeve is exceedingly modish and considerable ingenuity has been expended upon its trimming and finish at the wrist. As the sleeves fit close over the wrists, they are slit at the back, and the slits may be piped with contrasting material, run through with embroidered bands or filled in with lace. In either instance a row of fancy buttons usually appears above the slit.

The waist shown here is attractively designed in gray chiffon cloth trimmed with very dark red and silver embroidery. The waist may also be made with a surplice closing front, which may be rolled back to form revers. Following all ultra-modish designs, the collar is convertible. Provision is also made for straps to extend over the shoulders and cross at the back so that they button on to the belt or skirt in suspender effect. The straps stop at the pockets in front, however.

In medium size the waist requires 2½ yards of 44-inch material, with ¾ yard belting 2 inches wide for the stay. It is cut from a fold of the material, the back and collar being laid directly on the lengthwise fold. The first section of the pattern to be put into position, however, is the front, which is laid on a lengthwise thread of the cloth, with the underfacing opposite, in case the surplice effect is to be used instead of the embroidered front. There is a turn-over cuff to give variety to the sleeve, and this is placed opposite the back. To the right comes the peplum, followed by the pocket. Along the selvedge edge the strap is laid, and opposite this, toward the fold, the sleeve, on a lengthwise thread of material.

Many smart sleeves have a line of fur about the edge, with a piping of silk in contrasting color showing beyond the fur.

Pictorial Review Waist No. 6427. Sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. Price, 15 cents.

Wooltex Suit Week

Monday to Saturday, October 11th to 16th, at
G. W. WEAVER & SON'S

A mid-season fashion event of interest to every woman, and especially to you if you have not yet selected your fall suit.

Fashionable Suits for Social Functions

Dressy designs that show the newest and most advanced tendencies of the season; garments with all the chic and "go" that Paris artists can devise; garments that will please the woman who wants the utmost in fashionable apparel.

Jaunty Suits for Misses

Style and beauty are beautifully combined in our many jaunty suits for misses and young women. For school and college wear, for dress up occasions, and for all purpose wear, show this week an unusual variety. Some of the most attractive suits are of Scotch mixtures with military collars and envelope pockets. Belted styles are numerous.

Trim Suits For Stout Women.

Suits that are carefully designed to give the stout figure a more slender appearance. In some suits, this is done by means of a vertical box plait down center back of jacket. In others, it is accomplished by the artistic cut of front and back sections, with seams that give a trim effect. Stout women should by all means see these.

In this week's special display there are dressy suits for church, for street wear and afternoon calls. There are jaunty Norfolk and belted models for school or street and general wear.

AMONG THE LEADING MODELS ARE THE SPECIAL WINNINGHAM SUITS—SEE THEM

The superiority of the materials and tailoring in these Wooltex suits cannot be too strongly emphasized. It's the quality of Wooltex garments that keeps them so stylish looking so much longer than ordinary garments, made in the ordinary way.

Wooltex Suits at $25.00 to $32.50

Wooltex Coats at $15.00 to $30.00

Suits made by the Wooltex Standards $9.75, $12.00 to $20.00

Coats made by Wooltex standards $6.00 to $15.00

Special Models for Elderly Women

Suits that express the dignity and simple elegance that elderly women covet; suits that are conservative, yet have the correct style tendencies of the season; suits that appeal and are stylish because of their beauty of materials and excellence of tailoring as well as for their correct lines.

Smart Styles for Small Women

Womanly suits for matrons of small stature—suits that are decidedly becoming, and not girlish in design because of being girlish in size. Some of them are fur trimmed. Others have a martial touch in the collar and pocket effects. Others are very dressy, so the range is complete.

Becoming Models for Tall Women

Fashionable models that give a tall figure a stylishly molded and rounded silhouette; suits that set off to the best advantage the natural grace of the tall woman.

MAIL BY MOTORCYCLE.

Postmaster General Grants Rural Carriers Privilege of Riding.

Under an order issued by Postmaster General Burgeson the use by rural carriers of motorcycles having side bodies is authorized. This amends the order of July 24 last prohibiting the use of bicycles and motorcycles in the rural delivery service after Jan. 1, 1916.

The regulation with reference to automobiles is not changed, and the restrictions affecting the use of motor vehicles applies also to the use of motorcycles; hence the carriers must have express authority from the department if they desire to use a motorcycle with a ran body attached.

Blind Swimmers.

It has been found that blind swimmers always swim in a straight line, and this gives them a decided advantage, for many experts have been beaten in races because they deviated from the shortest distance between two points. Dr. Campbell of the College for the Blind at Upper Norwood, England, who has made observations proving the statement just made, says that those who compete as fast swimmers ought to practice swimming with a bandage over their eyes, so that they may learn to take a straight course instinctively.

Simon Says Thumbs Up.

In this amusing game the players are to obey only those commands of the leader which begin with "Simon says." If the order is "Simon says thumbs up" the order is to be obeyed. If the order is simply "Thumbs up" the order is to be disregarded, and any who obey orders not beginning with "Simon says" are to pay forfeits.

Old Maid Moon

The imp of the wind, with his madcap pack, Crowded around the old maid moon—Crowded and jeered to keep her back, Twisting and tugging her cloak and shawl.

Oh, how they laughed, and they sniggered in glee! Seizing her quick as she hurried past. Oh, how they laughed in their joy to see How angry she grew as they held her fast!

And, lo, as the old maid moon grew mad, Stripped was her cloak and loosed were her shawl. And she fled to a tree—she was near unclad—Fled for shame, did the old maid moon!

Then all the children stars raised up a shout And danced in a ring with childish glee. For the imp taunted loud to tease her out. But the old maid moon—she hid in the tree! —Lucia Ginsberg in New York Times.

All Around Story Game.

The all around story game is very entertaining and productive of general merriment if conducted at all cleverly by the players. One person in the room begins to relate a story and, after telling enough to interest his hearers and arouse their curiosity, suddenly breaking off, throws a knotted handkerchief at some other member of the party, calling upon him to continue the narrative. This is kept up as long as possible, the more absurd and improbable the plot of the story the better. If any one fails to respond upon receiving the handkerchief he or she must pay a forfeit.

A Swimming Pool For Scouts.

The city council of Conway, Ark., recently presented the boy scouts with a lot on which to build a swimming pool. The city agreed to furnish the water and lights free, changing the water every day and heating it in the winter. If the scouts would build the pool. The scouts accepted the offer of the city council and raised $500. The pool is now in use, and the scouts are making plans for a clubhouse, which they expect will become the social and recreation center of the town.
